

To Whom it may concern,
I have purchased XM satellite radio service and become dependent on the morning traffic reports I receive as soon as I get in my car. This service is miles ahead of traditional broadcast radio service and I think it would be ill advised to stifle competition. If I'm willing to pay extra for the service, I should be able to get offerings that equal convenience. Please allow this service to continue.